

"View From My Window" by Pastor Everhart

A. W. Tozer says that God will be as pleased to have us in heaven as we are to be there. That's quite an amazing thought! I suppose it's just one more way to express how great is the love of our God for us. It would help to explain the cross: after all, Jesus did what He did in order to save us. And at such an enormous cost! If He didn't want us in heaven all He had to do was not suffer the pains of Calvary. The cross is the Lord's unforgettable valentine to you signed with His own precious blood. Now if He is so anxious for us to get to heaven in order to be with Him He must have a pretty good reason for keeping us here a little longer or maybe I should say reasons. Here's a few I can think of: 1) He enjoys watching us live this life much like we enjoy watching children and grandchildren grow and conquer new feats, 2) He's already enjoying intimacy with us as we worship, pray and live, 3) only while we're here can He use us to influence others to grasp a hold of faith for the first time or keep holding onto it if they're already a believer. You won't be here much longer, look forward to being with Jesus in heaven but while you're here enjoy the view: be with Jesus as much as possible now. Make good use of your remaining hours by helping someone else see the light we're journeying toward.
