

"View From My Window" by Pastor Everhart

Last Sunday I visited the Children's Church with a squirt bottle in my hand and a towel over my shoulder. Their theme for the day was Jesus washing the disciple's feet. I asked them to imagine what else Jesus could have done with the basin full of water. He could have pretended to be washing someone's feet then just dumped the whole bowlful on them! Imagine what a laugh He and the other disciples would have gotten while the one sat there dripping wet. But Jesus didn't come to entertain Himself or to take advantage of others; He came to serve. You can take the lesson from there. I washed a few of their shoes with the water and wiped them with the towel but soon everyone wanted squirted and I had a good time obliging them. The next morning I was out on my run when what had been a drizzle turned into a rain. At one point a goliath raindrop landed square on the top of my head. Immediately I thought about squirting the kids the day before and the verse came to mind, "Give and it shall be given unto you; pressed down, shaken together and running over". So if you have a kid in Children's Church tell them that the day after I squirted them God got me back but good!
