THE VIEW FROM MY WINDOW

Have you ever contemplated the difference between an off day & a day off? Each assumes that not much regular work is being accomplished yet the mention of one comes with ill feelings while the other is accompanied by pleasant thoughts. One is dreaded; the other is anticipated.

Perhaps saddest of all is when you have an off day on your day off! Yet, at the same time, that might be the very best time to have an off day. If you have too many off days at work you might find yourself with a lot of days off!

On this Father's Day you may not get any relief from your regular obligations (changing diapers, helping with dinner, mowing the lawn, etc), but it's about as much as we can ask out of a day if it all goes smoothly. So, today might not be a day off for you, Dad (in fact, it may require a little more than normal from you), take it all in stride & be thankful it's not an off day.
