The View From My Window

WITH PASTOR JOEL

It's football season! Football teams are a fascinating blend of individuals. It's not unusual for an offensive lineman to stand 6'7" tall & weigh 350lbs while a punter can be 5'6" tall & under 200lbs. Wide receivers don't look like they come from the same planet as linemen. Often the head coach is severely overweight even though he demands his players be in optimum physical condition. You can find him on the sideline screaming his displeasure into the facemask of a player that could crush him with just one blow. Some players are fast & athletic, others wide & bulky.

Without such diversity a team can't possibly hope to compete. What makes a team member successful at one position would cause him to fail miserably at another. So it is in the body of Christ. Not all of us are gifted to preach but some are; the same with singing, teaching, serving, etc. Find your gift & become a pro at your position.
